Office of Faculty Affairs

VOLUME 10 ISSUE 1

JANUARY 2022

From the Desk of the Interim ADFA

Happy New Year from the Office of Faculty Affairs (OFA). We hope that you had an enjoyable winter break with ample time to enjoy the festivities of the season with family and friends.

The new year brings many opportunities for growth, change and renewal. In an effort to grow our faculty, we have hired several talented professionals in both visiting and regular faculty appointments. These new faculty members include Dr. Angela Yepes, Pediatric Dentistry; Professor Abbey Rieck, Biomedical Sciences, and Comprehensive Care, Division of Dental Hygiene; Dr. Grace Felix Gomez, Cariology, Operative Dentistry, and Dental Public Health, Division of Dental Informatics; Dr. Alexandru Movila, Biomedical Sciences and Comprehensive Care; and Post-doctoral Fellow, Dr. Gina Alejandro Castiblanco Rubio, Cariology, Operative Dentistry, and Dental Public Health.

Welcome

To continue this trend, the Office of Faculty Affairs is engaged in seven active searches; three Associate Dean positions (Faculty Affairs, Diversity and Student Affairs, Education and Academic Affairs) and four faculty searches; two positions in Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery and Hospital Dentistry, one in Biomedical Sciences and Comprehensive Care (Evansville Clinic Director), and one in Prosthodontics, which will result in several faculty hires. We have the great fortune to have received multiple applications for all of the positions we have posted. Two additional searches will become active yet this week for additional faculty positions in Biomedical Sciences.

Beginning this week on January 14th, we will be hosting the first of three candidates for the position of Associate Dean for Faculty Affairs, followed by the second candidate on January 19th and the third on January 25th. All three candidates bring broad experience and expertise to the position. The IUSD community will play a vital role in welcoming these prospective candidates to our school and in the evaluation of each candidate. The Office of Faculty Affairs values your opinion and looks forward to receiving your feedback. One of these candidates will be the next leader of the Office of Faculty Affairs.

As the search and screen committees continue their work, more prospective candidates will be invited to interview. We ask that you be vigilant in your participation and engagement in these search processes. Among these candidates the next Associate Dean of Diversity and Student Affairs, Associate Dean for Education and Academic Affairs, or faculty colleague in your department will emerge. OFA is appreciative of the work of the Search and Screen Committees and the support of the faculty, staff, and students in these endeavors.

As recently announced by Dean Murdoch-Kinch, Dr. N. Shaun Matthews

was appointed as Chair of the Department of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery and Hospital Dentistry and Associate Dean for Hospital Affairs. OFA extends congratulations to Dr. Matthews and wishes him success in his new leadership roles. We would also like to thank Dr. Waldemar Polido for his years of service as Interim Chair.

As a friendly reminder, the reinstituted annual IUSD P&T program will be held on Wednesday, January 12th, from 12 noon to 1:00 pm in the Glick Eye Center, Room 103, and virtually via Zoom. Dr. Richard Gregory, Dr. Juan Yepes, Associate Librarian Sean Stone and I look forward to your participation.

Finally, OFA will be distributing via a separate email the details and requirements for the annual report process for faculty. We will be using the same report form for 2021 that you are familiar with while we develop and vet our new form for 2022. Happy January!

Susan Zunt Retires

Congratulations to Dr. Susan Zunt, who, after 42 years of service in academia, retired from IUSD on December 31, 2021. Effective with her retirement, she not only became a retiree, but she also received the distinct honor of having the title Professor Emerita conferred upon her, a distinguished recognition for outstanding service. Chair of the department of Oral Pathology, Medicine and Radiology from 2002 through 2021, her pathways to success covers her experiences as a 1973 graduate from Ohio Wesleyan University (BA), a 1977 graduate from Case Western University (DDS) and a 1980 graduate from Indiana University (MS). Strong, resolute, compassionate, generous, and many admirable qualities and characteristics were embodied by Dr. Zunt throughout her journey, a journey that opened doors and created hope for many women to follow, inspired by her tenacity despite invisibility, stereotyping, mansplaining and the variety of other barriers faced by women who courageously pursue their dreams, their values, their careers against the tide of masculine dominance. Small in stature yet a giant through the successes she has achieved navigating her way through to achieve tenure and attaining full professorship (2001), she has served on many institutional and school committees and in broad range of national and international organizations in her 42 years of impacting students, educators, and administrators of today, not the least of which were the Indiana Association of Women Dentists and the American Association of Women Dentists. Now retired, her work has not.

Martin Luther King Day, Jan. 17, 2022

Plater Medallion Nominations

The William M. Plater Civic Engagement Medallion was established in 2006 to honor graduates who have excelled in their commitment to the community through activities such as service learning, volunteerism, community/social issue advocacy, community work-study, and political engagement.

The medallion is named in honor of IU-PUI's former Executive Vice Chancellor and Dean of the Faculties from 1988 to 2006, Dr. William Plater, a strong advocate of civic engagement during his career. Students who are awarded the William M. Plater Civic Engagement Medallion will have exhibited personal development, intellectual growth, and positive community impact as a result of their civic engagement experiences. Recipients are expected to have engaged in a variety of activities demonstrating depth and diversity of commitment in serving their communities, while making a significant investment to at least one community experience over time.

Applicants for the Plater Civic Engagement Medallion are undergraduate, masters, or doctorate students who will receive their respective degrees by August 2022. Students who completed their degree requirement in December 2021 are also eligible to apply.

Online applications, which are completed by students, are due by February 28, 2022. More information can be found at <https://csl.iupui.edu/resources-support/awards/plater-application-confirm-readiness.html>.

Faculty are able to nominate a student for the Medallion as well, via the information page at <https://csl.iupui.edu/resources-support/awards/plater.html>. Please see this page for more information.

Social Justice Conference

Indiana University's Office of the Vice President for Diversity, Equity, and Multicultural Affairs will host its second annual social justice conference from Sunday, January 16, through Monday, January 17, 2022. Honoring Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., this conference offers IU faculty, staff, students, and community members an opportunity to attend virtual presentations, workshops, and more.

"The Purpose of Education," written by Martin Luther King Jr. and published in the Morehouse campus newspaper, the Maroon Tiger, January and February 1947, is the basis for the conference theme. In the article, King argues that education has a utilitarian and moral function, insisting that character and moral development are necessary to give the critical intellect humane purposes. Attendees will engage in educational workshops and presentations that address social justice and the importance of character, inspiring each of us to continue his work, creating real and lasting change.

The conference will feature 18 concurrent sessions throughout the day led by social justice experts and a series of nationally recognized keynote speakers. Please register for a half-day or full-day Livestream experience and RSVP for virtual workshops and presentations via the website. A complete schedule of concurrent workshops and presentations will be posted ten days before the conference. All sessions have moved to a virtual platform, so if you RSVP'd to join in person, please re-register here.

For more information on the keynote speakers, the conference schedule, and details on the concurrent sessions, visit <https://mlkcelebration.indiana.edu/social-justice-conference/index.html>.

Vinicius Dutra Receives Cert.

Former General Electric (GE) Chief Executive Officer Jack Welch, once said, "Change before you have to." IUSD has cadres of faculty who model that proverb for success. Dr. Vinicius Dutra, clinical associate professor in the department of Oral Pathology, Medicine and Radiology, is one of those faculty. In November 2021 he completed a goal he set out to achieve, as he described, "more than a decade ago." Having completed in November an 18-month, synchronous and asynchronous university-based certificate course in Digital Dentistry, he received his first official certification in Digital Dentistry, officially becoming a specialist in Digital Dentistry. This course, he said, "offered a special and unique challenge" because in it he was a guest professor and student at the same time. Such passion for growth and advancement contributes to why IUSD stays aligned with Indiana University's brand as an institution where "faculty inspire" and there is a "culture of perpetual discovery."

Welch believed it is not necessary to look far for incentive to change. He posited that changes in organizational climate, career options, competitor benchmarks, or customer (patient care) needs may be incentives staring one right in the face. He was not wrong. It has been projected that from 2021 to 2027, the United States' digital dentistry market size will boom from $986 million to $1.37 billion. Congratulations to Dr. Dutra for seeing, changing, and succeeding.

Twyla Rader Appointed

The Indiana State Board of Dentistry (ISBD) recently had a new member join them, IU School of Dentistry's Professor Twyla Rader. Prior to her appointment to the board by Indiana Governor Eric Holcomb, Professor Rader had been serving as a liaison to the board for the Indiana Dental Hygiene Association. An opening to the board occurred as a result of the previous dental hygienist on the ISBD reaching the maximum term limit. Motivated by a conviction that whomever filled the vacancy needed to be someone with a well-rounded view on dental hygiene from both a clinical and educational perspective, Professor Rader accepted the invitation to apply.

Professor Rader, currently a clinical assistant professor in the Dental Hygiene Division of the department of Biomedical Sciences &

Comprehensive Care, is an IUSD alumna. She began her career as a dental hygienist/study coordinator in the school's Oral Health Research Institute in 1988 and continues to impact the oral health profession throughout Indiana through IUSD, private practice, local and national organizational service, and now, with the nine practicing dentists on the board, through the Indiana State Board of Dentistry. Congratulations!

OFA's Shelley Hall to Retire

If "good people" are hard to find, what does that say for finding "great" people? The IU School of Dentistry's Office of Faculty Affairs (OFA) certainly found one of those great individuals in November 2011 when the team hired Ms. Shelley K. Hall to serve as administrative assistant for the Executive Associate Dean/Associate Dean for Faculty Affairs. With professional expertise that built upon her academic background in Environmental Science (BS, Ball State University, 1985) and Human Resources Development with Specialization in Training and Organizational Development (MS, Indiana State University, 2004), Shelley brought a portfolio to the office and team that proved more than ideal for meeting the human resources, promotion and tenure, Commission on Dental Accreditation, Institutional Outcomes Assessment, strategic planning, faculty awards and recognition, and various budgetary responsibilities fulfilled by OFA. With a flair for colors, stylish shoes, and a wide range of fashion, Shelley delivered daily with class, honesty, warm smiles, and plenty of reinforcing gestures that were all a part of her reassuring energy and reliably welcoming demeanor.

When she retires on January 31, 2022, she will do so having given 19 years of service to the IUPUI campus, specifically at the IU School of Medicine and the IU School of Dentistry. Thank you! It has been great.

Faculty Transitions

Joining the IU School of Dentistry this month will be Dr. Chiaki Yamada, post-doctoral research fellow for Dr. Alexandru Movila, who joined IUSD in December 2021. Dr. Yamada (DDS, Osaka University, 2006; PhD, Osaka University, 2011) comes to IUSD from Nova Southeastern University, where he served as both a post-doctoral fellow and an adjunct faculty member, the latter in the Department of Biological Sciences for the Halmos College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Yamada's home department at IUSD will be in the Biomedical Sciences division of the department of Biomedical Sciences and Comprehensive Care. His research responsibilities for Dr. Movila include management of overall lab activities, oversight and training of undergraduate/graduate student workers, preparation of research protocols and IRB and IACUC submissions, generation of manuscripts for publication in scientific journals, and assistance in the development of research grant applications. For insight into Dr. Yamada's research experience and interest, visit ResearchGate.

Dr. Massimiliano Di Giosia will be joining IUSD on February 1 as a visiting faculty member in the department of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery and Hospital Dentistry. Dr. Di Giosia will have some responsibilities in the TMJ Institute clinic, but his primary duties will include didactic and clinical instruction of oral surgery and other residents and predoctoral dental students; developing courses for the predoctoral and graduate program curricula in orofacial pain, TMD, and dental sleep medicine; and fostering collaborative relationships with other clinical departments within the dental school, the Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Residency Program, and our partnering hospitals.

Among his academic credentials, Dr. Di Giosia has a DDS from the University "G.d'Annunzio" – Chieti School of Dentistry (Italy, 2002), a Certificate in Orofacial Pain from the University of Kentucky (USA, 2007), a Diploma in Headache Medicine from the University of Turin (Italy, 2008), and a Certificate in Orthodontics from the University of Cagliari (Italy, 2012).

Welcome to IUSD!

Award Nomination Reminders

Faculty are reminded that the Trustees' Teaching Award nominations are upcoming. To be eligible for the award, the faculty member must complete the Faculty Annual Report (FAR) by the IU School of Dentistry FAR submission deadline (February 1 by 12:00 pm). Self and/or peer nominations will be accepted by e-mail notification to Shelley Hall at shhall@iu.edu on or before 12:00 pm on Tuesday, February 1, 2022. The Trustees' Teaching Award honors individuals who have a positive impact on learning through the direct teaching of students. Award recipients must have demonstrated a sustained level of teaching excellence in the form of documented student learning and must have completed at least three years of service at IUPUI. Faculty who received this award in 2020 and 2021 are not eligible for the current award cycle.

Tenured and tenure-track faculty and librarians engaged in teaching are eligible, as are full-time clinical faculty and full-time lecturers whose primary duties are teaching, including faculty in the School of Medicine who may be located at medical centers or paid by institutions other than Indiana University (e.g., IUHP, Eskenazi, Purdue, VA, Ball State, etc.). The full set of guidelines for the award is accessible electronically. Each awardee will receive $2,500 for the TTA.

All IUSD faculty, staff, and students are invited to submit nominations for the 2021-2022 Volunteer Faculty Teaching Award and Associate Faculty Teaching Award prior to the deadline of June 1, 2022.

Volunteer and associate (adjunct) faculty in Indianapolis and at the two regional IU School of Dentistry campuses (as well as the Community Based Dentistry sites) are eligible. This award honors those individuals who have a positive impact on learning through the direct clinical teaching of IU School of Dentistry students and/or residents. Award recipients must have demonstrated a sustained level of teaching excellence. Eligible individuals may be nominated by any IU School of Dentistry faculty member (this includes regional campus deans, community-based dental education preceptors or peers), learner (dental student, resident, graduate student) or staff. Award recipients must have demonstrated teaching excellence, completed at least three years of service as a volunteer or associate (adjunct) faculty member with the Indiana University School of Dentistry and be consistently up to date on their required compliance requirements. Faculty members who receive the award in a given year will not be eligible for the award until two years have passed (e.g., a 2020 recipient would not be eligible again until 2022).

You will find the nomination form in the IUSD Office of Faculty Affairs Public folder, in the Faculty Awards folder. If you have problems finding the nomination form, please let us know and we'd be happy to send you a copy. Please note that all nominations are due by June 1, 2022, and must be sent to iUSDofa@iu.edu. We look forward to receiving your nominations!

Early Career Teaching Academy

Applications are now being accepted for the 2022 Early Career Teaching Academy (ECTA). ECTA provides the setting within which faculty members can develop themselves into powerful teachers who are rooted in a desire for student success through evidence-based active teaching strategies and high-impact educational practices.

Faculty who become Early Career Teaching Academy Fellows are in a position to play a leading role in efforts to develop a culture of scholarly teaching within departments and schools at IUPUI, to document and promote their teaching successes, and to serve as teaching mentors for faculty and future faculty. The Academy fosters and supports a multi-disciplinary network of ECTA Fellows who promote excellent teaching and rich student learning.

The academy convenes in three intensive morning sessions (Fridays, 8:30 to 11:30 a.m.) on February 11, 25, and March 11. The academy continues with two additional meetings on March 25 and September 23 (Fridays, from 1 to 3 p.m.). All sessions will be held on Zoom. Admission to the Early Career Academy is contingent on agreement to attend all five days.

The academy's sessions will engage Fellows in the collaborative process of developing teaching philosophies and ePortfolios. The teaching philosophy will serve as the keystone for the ePortfolio, framing each Fellow's development and assessment of effective teaching and learning strategies for IUPUI's diverse student body. Over the course of the year, each Fellow will identify, develop, and implement a teaching strategy to realize their teaching philosophy, and they will plot the trajectory of their teaching careers by either writing or planning a teaching statement.

The Academy invites applications from full time faculty members in their first, second, or third year of teaching at IUPUI, IUPU Columbus, or Indiana University Fort Wayne. Interested faculty members should submit an application and secure an endorsement by a chair or supervisor. Applications must be submitted by Sunday, January 16, 2022 at 11:59 pm.

For more information on the upcoming Early Career Teaching Academy and previous years' Academies, and to apply, please visit <https://ctl.iupui.edu/Programs/ECTA>. Please contact the Center for Teaching and Learning at 317-274-1300 with questions.

Barbara Maxwell Leads IPE

In the development of its newest Strategic Plan, IUPUI administrators, faculty, staff, students and community stakeholders identified three “Urgent Priorities” and ten supporting strategic goals. Those priorities and goals are considered essential for effectively positioning the campus as well as the campus’s communities to meet existing and emerging needs of our campus, city and state. “Advances in Health and Life Sciences” is one of the three Urgent Priorities. The single supporting strategic goal for that priority area is “Leverage our Strengths in Health and Life Sciences” (Goal 5). To focus efforts, this strategic goal was defined as follows: “Advance our capabilities and contributions through interdisciplinary efforts—often referred to as interprofessional education and collaborative practice—to improve the well being of communities and tackle important public health challenges.”

Indiana University School of Dentistry has stood and continues to stand firmly as a campus partner and collaborator in the fulfillment of the objectives directly associated with Goal 5. Among the ways that commitment remains highly visible is our relationship with the IU Interprofessional Practice and Education Center (IU IPE) on the IUPUI campus. IUSD’s interim Associate Dean for Education and Academic Affairs, Dr. Laura Romito, is also Assistant Dean for Faculty Development and Engagement for the IU IPE, which in October 2021 began being shaped by the leadership and vision of Dr. Barbara Maxwell, IU IPE’s new director. To learn more about Dr. Maxwell’s goals and vision, IUSD’s Office of Faculty Affairs invited her to share insights as well as background with us. She graciously agreed.

Dr. Maxwell: “I joined IU on October 18th as Associate Dean and Director of the Indiana University Center for Interprofessional Practice and Education and Professor of Physical Medicine & Rehabilitation in the IU School of Medicine. The goal of the center is to implement, integrate and evaluate interprofessional education programs and exemplary practice sites to translate the outcomes of interprofessional education into collaborative practice models. The success of the Center hinges on establishing and sustaining effective collaborations with a broad array of academic, clinical, and community partners.

I have been very fortunate to have spent the last six years working as part of an interprofessional team focused on oral systemic health. This work was part of a HRSA grant that involved designing and delivering interprofessional education activities to graduate health professional students from a wide array of professions including dentistry, medicine, and physician assistant studies. It also addressed practice, with a particular focus on the primary care setting building interprofessional collaborative practice initiatives at community health centers.

Here is a link to a news article about this work that was also featured in the ADEA bulletin. It outlines many achievements of this work which might be a nice focus for the dental school. There was also a write up about the IPE center in the article released on December 1st about the new health science center in Bloomington. It has a very nice section on the IPE Center.

Mission and Vision

We are currently reworking the mission and vision for the center so more to come on that in the future.

Key Expectations

The key expectations for the Interprofessional Practice & Education Center are intended to ensure that IU graduates are ready to be effective collaborative practitioners on entering the workforce. This is vital if we are to meet the holistic needs of those we serve, and attain the goals of the IHI’s triple aim. The key expectations of the IPE center are:

- (1) Provide evidence-based expert guidance to the health sciences community on issues related to interprofessional education and collaborative practice.
- (2) Identify exemplary interprofessional education and collaborative practice environments and practices to serve as exemplars from which interprofessional collaborative competencies can be modeled, learned, and practiced.
- (3) Prepare academic and practice faculty and preceptors to teach interprofessional competence through curriculum development and ongoing quality improvement activities.
- (4) Collect, analyze, and disseminate data metrics to assess the effectiveness of interprofessional education and collaborative practice models.
- (5) Coordinate interprofessional education and collaborative practice scholarly, evaluation and dissemination efforts to share innovative, evidence-based, best practice models.
- (6) Evaluate the impact of team-based care on patient, family, and community health, and health and social care outcomes.
- (7) Develop new and support and/or enhance existing team-based interprofessional education and collaborative practice programs across the University.
- (8) Convene and engage interprofessional education and collaborative practice thought leaders, educators, practitioners, and policymakers to build consensus and bring statewide attention to the interprofessional education and collaborative practice agenda.

Anyone can contact us to get involved.

ANGELA YEPES CORRECTION

In our December 2021 OFA newsletter, we mistakenly published that visiting clinical assistant professor Dr. Angela Yepes is currently pursuing a graduate certificate in Medical Management from the IUPUI Kelly School of Business. She finished that in the fall of 2020 and anticipates completing the Evening MBA at Kelley this spring.
